1 MANAGEMENT SUMMARY

NHS Connecting for Health has enhanced the National Cancer Waiting Times System (NCWT) first introduced in December 2002. These enhancements will support the implementation and achievement of the expansion to the original cancer waiting times standards specified by the Cancer Reform Strategy (December 2007).

The system is hosted nationally on the NHSNet (N3) and allows NHS providers to record data derived from patient care activity. These data are used to monitor performance and aid service improvement, and are made available (at appropriate security and aggregation levels), in on-line reports and query tools, to commissioning PCTs, Strategic Health Authorities, NHS Trusts, NHS Foundation Trusts, Other NHS Providers, Cancer Networks, Cancer Registries and the Department of Health.

As a patient moves through the stages of their treatment pathway data on referrals, treatments and diagnosis are derived from care records locally. Whilst the decisions on how to collect these data from local systems have been left for local determination, NHS providers are reminded of the requirement to ensure full interoperability with other NHS initiatives to keep the burden of data collection as minimal as possible. NHS providers should also be aware of the requirement to comply with the mandate of DSCN 20/2008.

3 REPORTS

For detailed information about the definition and content of Reports Please see Appendix 7a and Appendix 7b.

3.1 Previewing a Report on Screen

Previewing a report is similar to viewing a finished report in the Report screen: select the report to preview, and the month or quarter, and year, then click the Preview Report on Screen button. Unlike the Report screen, however, you are able to select months and quarters in the future, as well as in the past.

The preview reports look very similar to the finished reports, but with the following differences:

- They clearly display the word 'PREVIEW' to prevent them from being confused with the finished reports.
- The Median Wait column (which requires a lot of effort to calculate) is not included.
- Individual delay reason comments are not displayed.
- The notes at the foot of the report are not displayed.
- There is no 'Print' facility.

Please note that a preview report will take longer to display on screen than a finished report.

3.2 Downloading Individual Records

Use this download to check that your data is complete and correct prior to the next report generation date. If the figures in the preview report are not as you would expect, download the records not included in the report, to identify the reasons for these records being excluded. You can then modify the records using the Record screen or Upload facility, before the finished reports are generated.

To download the set of individual records for a preview report, select the report to preview, and the month or quarter, and year. Use the Records To Download drop-down list to choose which records you would like to include in the download – those records used to generate the on-screen preview report, those excluded from the preview report, or all records. Click the Download Individual Records button.

Depending on the set-up of your PC, this will either display a File Download popup window, or write the content of the CSV file into a new browser window.

If the File Download popup is displayed:

- Click Save.
- In the Save As popup window:
    - Change the 'Save as type' to 'All Files'.
    - Select the folder where the file should be saved.
    - Choose a filename, and add an extension (.csv or .txt).
    - Click Save.
- When the Download Complete popup window is displayed, click Close.

If the CSV file is written to a new browser window:

- From the browser's File menu, select the Save As option.

- In the Save Web Page popup window:
  - Change the 'Save as type' to 'Text File (*.txt)'.
  - Select the folder where the file should be saved.
  - Choose a filename, and add an extension (.csv or .txt).
  - Click Save.
- Close the browser window displaying the CSV file.

The records included in the download associated with each preview report include those used to generate the preview report on screen, together with records which meet some of the report selection criteria, but fail others. Where a record meets all the report selection criteria, the Included In Report field is set to 'Y'; otherwise it is set to 'N'.

3.3 Reporting Periods

The waiting times reports are generated overnight, on or just after the 25th working day (based on a 5-day working week, i.e. excluding weekends and bank holidays) after the end of a reporting period (a month or a quarter). It is important to note that once the reports have been generated, these are never changed. Reports can be thought of as a 'snapshot' of the database, taken at the time they are generated – records added after the report generation date are not included in the report figures. Trusts therefore need to ensure that all data to be included in reports are uploaded a few days before the 25th working day, and are recommended to use the download facility to check that the data is complete and correct. Records submitted for upload on the report generation date may not be included in the reports, as uploads, although processed at the earliest opportunity, may not be processed until early the following morning. However, you can continue to input records manually, via the Record screen, right up to the end of the day on the report generation date.

Forthcoming report generation dates are published on the Cancer Waiting Times website: http://nww.icservices.nhs.uk/cancer/pages/waiting/default.asp.

3.4 Viewing, Saving and Printing Formatted Reports

To view a report on screen, click the View Report button. This displays the report in a new browser window.

To print a paper copy of the displayed report, simply select the browser's File menu, Print option. All NCWT reports should print successfully on A4 paper with margins of around 10mm. If you have problems, you may need to use the browser's File menu, Page Setup option, to change the margins, the orientation of the paper, etc. The Print Preview option is also useful to check whether a report will print correctly, before you actually print it.

A report can also be saved electronically as an HTML file. This can then be stored locally, emailed to colleagues who do not have access to the NCWT system, and so on. To do this:

- From the browser's File menu, select the Save As option.
- In the Save Web Page popup window:
  - Make sure the 'Save as type' is 'Web Page, HTML only (*.htm, *.html)'.
  - Select the folder where the file should be saved.
  - Choose a filename (there is no need to give the file an extension, as this will default to .htm).
  - Click Save.

 © Crown Copyright 2009

3.5 Downloading Reports as CSV Files

Each report may be downloaded as a comma separated (CSV) text file. This holds each record on a separate line of the file, with fields within each record being separated by commas. To prevent errors when a comma appears within the actual data of a field (e.g. in a notes field), all data values are quotes wrapped (i.e. surrounded by double quotation marks) – this includes empty fields, which appear in the CSV file as two quote characters together (e.g. ""). The first line of the CSV file contains the field names.

The record format and record ordering of the CSV files matches as closely as possible the content of the reports as viewed on screen. CSV file layouts are included in the description of each report, in the remainder of this chapter. See Chapter 0 for a full description of each field.

To prevent errors when combining data from more than one report download file, each record in a download file contains the set of values that uniquely identifies the report:

- the report number
- the year
- the month or quarter name
- your own or the selected organisation type
- your own or the selected organisation code

Depending on the set-up of your PC, this will either display a File Download popup window, or write the content of the CSV file into a new browser window.

If the File Download popup is displayed:

- Click Save.
- In the Save As popup window:
    - Change the 'Save as type' to 'All Files'.
    - Select the folder where the file should be saved.
    - Choose a filename, and add an extension (.csv or .txt).
    - Click Save.
- When the Download Complete popup window is displayed, click Close.

If the CSV file is written to a new browser window:

- From the browser's File menu, select the Save As option.
- In the Save Web Page popup window:
    - Change the 'Save as type' to 'Text File (*.txt)'.
    - Select the folder where the file should be saved.
    - Choose a filename, and add an extension (.csv or .txt).
    - Click Save.
- Close the browser window displaying the CSV file.

Appendix 7b: Commissioner Based Reports detail

These PCT Commissioner reports are to have the same construction as the equivalent Acute Provider reports, the difference being that they are not generated based around the ORGANISATION CODE of the provider at DATE FIRST SEEN or TREATMENT START DATE (CANCER). Instead these reports are based around the PCT where the patient is registered.

Where these reports are further broken down, it will be by provider ORGANISATION CODE at either DATE FIRST SEEN or TREATMENT START DATE (CANCER).
